Ready For Winter?

Fall colours are starting to appear in some areas of the Yukon, which means snowmobiling season is just around the corner! Now is a great time to give your snowmobiles an annual tune up and inspection, before your fingers freeze and while there's still time to order any parts you may need. It's also a great time to go through your safety gear and survival packs and do some shopping around for any items that are missing or expired.

Additional safety tips, winter maintenance advice, links to your local snowmobile dealers, trip planning resources, and much more, is all available on our website year-round at <https://ksa.yk.ca>!
